

Congress of the United States
House of Representatives
Washington, DC 20515-6502
December 19, 2014

The Honorable Pete Sessions
Chairman, House Committee on Rules
U.S. House of Representatives
H-312, the Capitol
Washington, D.C. 20515

Dear Chairman Sessions:

As the House prepares to convene the 114th Congress, I strongly urge you and the rest of the House Republican leadership to recommend to the full House extending current employment protections in the official Rules of the House to congressional employees who are lesbian, gay, bisexual, or transgender (LGBT) when Members consider the rules package in January.

As you may know, the House of Representatives has no official policy prohibiting employment discrimination against House employees on the basis of their sexual orientation or gender identity. Absent such protections, LGBT employees of the House of Representatives can be denied job opportunities, summarily fired, or otherwise discriminated against solely because of their sexual orientation or gender identity.

Clause 9 of Rule XXIII currently provides that:

A Member, Delegate, Resident Commissioner, officer, or employee of the House may not discharge and may not refuse to hire an individual, or otherwise discriminate against an individual with respect to compensation, terms, conditions, or privileges of employment, because of the race, color, religion, sex (including marital or parental status), disability, age, or national origin of such individual, but may take into consideration the domicile or political affiliation of such individual.

This simple change to Clause 9 of Rule XXIII, which I am asking the House Republican leadership to propose to the full House in January, will, if adopted, provide for a fair work environment while still permitting Members of Congress to take into account skill, experience, connections to the Member's state, and political affiliation.

The fundamental truth is that Democratic and Republican Members depend on LGBT Americans to carry out our duties in our House offices, our district offices, and on the committees we serve. It is ultimately in the House's own interest – and our nation's – to ensure no House employees are subject to a hostile or discriminatory workplace simply because of their sexual orientation or gender identity.

I cannot overstate my belief that the House will have missed a significant opportunity to demonstrate its commitment to basic workplace fairness if it does not make the change I propose. For this reason, it is imperative that Members have the opportunity to extend the protections articulated in Clause 9 Rule XXIII to LGBT employees when the House convenes in January.

Thank you for your attention and with kindest regards, I am

Sincerely yours,
