The Daily Quote

"Three separate jobs reports released Wednesday signaled that the nation's employment picture may finally be brightening, and hinted that a government report due at week's end could show strong gains. Private-sector employers added jobs in April for the third consecutive month, according to Automatic Data Processing (ADP). Outplacement firm Challenger, Gray and Christmas said planned job cuts in April dropped to the lowest level in nearly four years. And TrimTabs Investment Research said the nation added 262,000 jobs in April, boosted by government Census workers not included in the ADP report."
